As it should, so it does core this affection, which is does more, or rather does what is of more acrevice to those subject to this infection. It taken in season it expels it from the system as it is absorbed, and thus keeps those who use it free from its attacks; keeps the system in health although exposed to the disease. Consequently it not only cares, but protects from, the great variety of affections which are induced by this malignant influence, such as Remittent Fever, Chilf Fever, Dumb, or Masked Agus, Periodical Headache, or Billons Headache, Billous Fevers, Neurolgia, Rheumatism, Gout, Billintness, Toothsche, Earache, Catarrh, Asthma, Palpitations, Paintal Affections of the follers, Hutteries, Colie, Paralysis, and Painful Affections of the Stemach and Rowels, all of which, when arising from this cause will be found to assume more or less the fine milient type. This "Adus Cura" removes the cause of these derangements, and cures the discount of the system and those organs by degrees become habited to do his these office of their own accord. Hence a sea what we term neclination. Time may accord, lish the softice of their own accord. Hence a sea what we term neclination. Time may accord, lish the softice of their own accord. Hence a sea what we term neclination. Time may accord, lish the same and, but often tife is not long enough, or is sacrificed in the attempt, while this "Adus Cora" does it at enough and it has sill another imperiant advantage, to the public, which is, that it is chest as well as good.
